Dun's Trade Review.

New York, June 21—R. G. Dun's Review of Trade to-morrow will say:

"Rarely are the reports from leading centres in different sections of the country, so uniformly satisfactory. In most cases an actual widening demand is noted and in others there are clear signs of preparation for an active fall trade. The weather is ideally favorable both for wholesale and retail distribution of merchandise and for the growing crops. The crop outlook is increasingly favorable finouraging reports as to acreage and condition caused a decline in cotton, while rains largely benefitted the wheat fields, the winter yield not promising to be larger than in the earlier estimates. In addition to the stimulating effect of the favorable weather there is an expanding business confidence. Great nativity in iron and steel is maintained with a tendency toward higher prices. Copper continues strong. A larger distribution in the dry goods trade is noted. The demand for cotton is better. Woolens and worsteds are more active and higher prices are being asked by some producers! Raw wool is firm. Hesiery, underwear, clothing, cloaks, suits and notions appear to be moving fairly. Hardware, building materials and drugs, oils and chemicals are reported to be in satisfactory demand in various large distributing cities. Leather is very firm."

MAKES ESCAPE FROM JAIL.

Locks and Bars Do Not Deter Finchem in Effort to Gain Freedom. [Special to Tan Times-Dispatch.] Culpeper, Va. June 21.—Hudini, the man of mystery, who laughs at locks, has a rival in Ellis Finchem, waite the modwrn steet jall here. He worked the combination to the lock of his dungeon, which passed him into the corridor of the eages. He then worked the adjustments, releasing the lever operating its heavy fron doors, which admitted him to the offive rooms of the jail. He then tore a hole through the mortar ceiling of the roosa and reached the roof by the skylight, descending by the water spout to the rear porch, from which he leaped to earth and freedom.

It is said that this fellow makes it a practice of being failed and them breaking his way out. Hurry calls by telephone indicate that he has broken jail in adjoining counties.

the Austrian Emperor, and securing his full consent, has appointed as administrator, Prince Earnest de Ligne, who will keep Emperor Francis Joseph fully informed of all matters connected with the management of ex-Empress Charlotte's fortune, as also of the treatment which she receives. Prince Earnest is the only brother and heir to the head of the house, who is tenth Prince de Ligne of the Holy Roman Empire, French Prince de Amblise et d'Epinoy, and a Spanisi Grandee of the first class.

The de Lignes do not belong to the mediatized houses of Europe, yet it is to them that King Albert is indebted for his throne, the Beigian crown having been tendered by the Beigian people to the princes great-grandfather, the eighth Prince de Ligne, in 1830, after their successful war for separation from the Kingdom of Holland. It was on the Prince de Ligne's refusal of the crown, and at his suggestion, that it was thereupen offered to Queen Victoria's unce, Prince Leopold, of Saxe-Coburg, France, agreeing to the selection on the understanding that Leopold, widower of Princess Charlotte of Wales, should marry Princess Louise of France, one of the daughters of King Louis Philippe.

The then Prince de Ligne was moved in the matter by purely patriotic considerations, realizing that the independence of Belgium would be safer it thus guaranteed by a King allied to Great Brittan and France, than by one
